56th Annual Spring Conference

Highlights and Tours

Hudson Valley Community College's newest facility, TEC-SMART (Training and Education Center for Semiconductor Manufacturing and Alternative and Renewable Technologies), will open January 2010. It will feature more than a dozen state-of-the-art classrooms and laboratories that will be used to train the workforce in green technologies, including semiconductor manufacturing, photovoltaic, home energy efficiency, geothermal, alternative fuels and wind energy (Please note not all programs will be offered January 2010. Check back for updates). In addition, courses will be offered at the facility in Business and the Liberal Arts and Sciences area, including English, psychology, math and more.

THE J. BUCKLEY BRYAN, JR. ACC '87, '94 REGIONAL HIGHER EDUCATION CENTER AT ADIRONDACK COMMUNITY COLLEGE

As a traditional community college, ACC offers educational programs designed to prepare student transfer to four-year institutions, career degree and certificate programs, and continuing education programs. Now ACC's mission to make "quality education affordable and accessible for both traditional and non-traditional learners throughout their lives" has broadened, with SUNY Plattsburgh and Empire State College providing Baccalaureate and Master's level programs on campus in the J. Buckley Bryan, Jr. ACC '87, '94 Regional Higher Education Center. We are offering students additional and exciting opportunities. Students can begin their educations at a traditional community college and then stay on the ACC campus to pursue upper programs offered by ACC's partners, SUNY Plattsburgh and Empire State College.
